

NATION SOUND ECONOMICALLY AVERS EXPERT

See Era of Prosperity When Commodities Are Stabilized.

NEW PLAN OFFERED

Williams Recommends Aid To Help Banks Meet Runs.

today is upon a sounder basis financially and economically, than it has been on many years, and will enter upon an era of healthy progress when prices of commodities are further stabilized. Comptroller of the Currency Williams said today in his annual report to congress.

Comptroller Williams told congress there is urgent need in the readjustment period to stamp out profiteers in money and commodities. While the banking situation is growing more secure, Williams recommended that congress should add to the security by enactments that will improve the banking system and increase the security of bank depositors.

Among the main recommendations for new legislation made by Williams is one to enable solvent banks to meet runs or other sudden emergencies by the use with federal reserve banks of good securities that are not available now for such purposes. He also urged congress to enact a bank guaranty law, by which all deposit balances of $5,000 and less would be guaranteed. The effect of such a law he said would be to bring hundreds of millions of dollars out of hiding and into productive use.

Scores New York Bankers

Again criticizing certain New York bankers whom he charges with habitually exacting exorbitant rates of interest on short time loans, Comptroller Williams asked that an amendment be enacted to the national bank act, providing that member banks borrowing from federal reserve banks, shall be prohibited from charging more than a fair and reasonable advance over the rate paid the reserve banks.

Congress was informed that the tightness of money in the agricultural and producing regions has been partly due to his diversion of large sums from the interior banks to New York to be released at higher interest.

"During the past year," he said "banks borrowing from federal reserve banks at 5 to 6 percent have been lending funds to their customers at from 15 to 30 percent. There can be no possible excuse for such rates. These exorbitant rates have no parallel in any other civilized country and cannot be defended in New York."

Williams said the legislation he suggests would stop this form of "piracy" and make available to mercantile, industrial and agricultural fields adequate credit for legitimate needs.

Despite the business strain last year, Williams said the banks had shown the best record in "immunity from failure in forty years."

B., controller of finance in the British treasury for cancellation of the allied war debts, including the huge sums owed by allied nations to the United States but the American government refused, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

The British proposals for annulment of the vast war debts and America's refusal to sanction them are now part of the official treasury records in Whitehall it was declared.

LAD WHO KILLED FATHER RECEIVES RITES OF CHURCH

Angus Irvine, 20-Year-Old Cripple Taken To Mansfield.

Newark, O., Feb. 7.—Angus Irvine, the 20-year-old crippled boy who shot to death his father, ex-Probate Judge Major Walter A. Irvine, on the night of November 16, 1920, was together with a large class of men, women, boys and girls, confirmed in the Trinity Episcopal church here yesterday.

At his own request Angus was baptized by Rector Lewis P. Franklin and the delay in taking Angus to the reformatory at Mansfield, to which institution he was sentenced by the court after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter, was because he was repentant and wanted to join the church. This is the first case on record so far is known here, where a person convicted of murder has been converted and confirmed in a church and has been able to stay in position of sentence while he was receiving religious instruction. The church was crowded with people to witness the ceremony.

Young Irvine will be taken to Mansfield Tuesday morning to commence his sentence.

Selection of a jury to decide the fate of the accused jurist is expected to prove a long and wearisome task, as no case in the annals of the state has attracted more attention or resulted in a greater division of public opinion.

EXPECT HOUSE TO PASS BILLS NOW ON BOOKS

First Step Taken To Start Probe Into Department.

BONUS BILL IS UP

Committees Will Confer With Governor Davis On New Plans.

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—Lieutenant Governor Brown and Speaker Beetham today are expected to appoint the three senators and three house members who are to probe the state highway department, as provided for in the Hopely resolution which was adopted last week. The legislative probes will be aided by Attorney General Price.

The house this week is expected to pass the Hopely bill providing for abolition of the state highway advisory board, and the day resolution proposing an amendment to the state constitution permitting the state to issue not more than $25,000,000 in bonds in order to pay bonuses to Ohio veterans of the world war. The senate has passed both these measures.

The senate and house committees on reorganization of state departments are to confer with Gov. Davis Wednesday relative to details of proposed legislation seeking to effect a material change in the machinery of state government. It is planned to have a bill ready for introduction by March 1 which will embrace substantially all the major changes contemplated.

A joint hearing is to be held in the house tomorrow night by the senate and house taxation committees on the Griswold measures relative to debt limitation and on the Taft bill permitting suspension of the Smith one per cent tax act for three years on vote of electors in any taxing district.

"GIRDER GLIDE" SOME FOX TROT

Captain Charles N. Fitzgerald, aerialist and head of the New York Air Police, is the originator and is seen practicing the step atop a New York skyscraper some 700 or 800 feet above Broadway. The "girder glide," it might be assumed, gives one that nice view of pose so much to be desired. To practice it, pick out a new skyscraper, and hop from girder to girder, but leave your accident insurance policy at home on the piano.

CONGRESS WILL ACT ON SOLDIER BONUS BILL

"Adequate, Ample and Satisfactory Provision" Will Be Made For Soldiers Declares Senator Penrose—American Legion Wants Final Action.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Congress is apparently about to do something at last to compensate the American doughboy for the sacrifices he made in the world war. After months of dillydallying and debate since the armistice was signed "adequate, ample and satisfactory provision" in the words of Senator Penrose will soon be made for hundreds of American service men. As one step in that direction, the senate today coincident with a meeting of the executive and legislative committees of the American legion here planned to adopt an amendment to the pending sundry civil appropriations bill providing for $17,500,000 for proper hospital facilities for maimed, sick and insane veterans.

Senator Penrose is of the opinion that the American people will back congress up if increased taxation is found necessary to furnish financial sinews for the soldiers aid bill passed by the house last session and still before the senate finance committee of which the Pennsylvania senator is chairman.

The bill is in charge of Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, who as ranking Republican member of the committee, was its acting chairman before Senator Penrose's recent recovery from a long illness.

It is Senator McCumber's plan to hold further hearings on the bill but the American Legion and other organizations of service men are insisting final action on the bill be delayed long enough and the senate ought not to permit it to "sleep" in committee any longer. In this they are to have the support of Senator Penrose, he indicated. There are many other bills proposing soldier aid and relief on both the senate and house calendars.

Five weanling mules brought $70 apiece, while cows sold from $70 to $140 a head. Gilts brought from $45 to $48 apiece and hogs sold in proportion. Chickens, even, were knocked down at $1.85 apiece. The auctioneers were John Webb of this city, and Mead & Titus. Mr. Funderburg carried extensive newspaper advertising.

HERSCHEL S. HALL NOTED AUTHOR IS DEAD IN CLEVELAND

His Book "Steel Preferred" Among Best Of the Year.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 7.—Herschel S. Hall, widely known author, whose novel "Steel Preferred" was one of the six best sellers of the year, died at the Huron Road hospital here yesterday after a long illness at the age of 46.

He was born in Danville, Ill., Oct. 22, 1874, and came to Cleveland in 1905, being connected with the American steel and wire company until about three years ago, where he secured much of the material which he wove into such fascinating fiction.

His best known character was "Wallie Gay" whose rise from poverty to high position was told in the Saturday Evening Post and later in book form.

His last illness dates from election day. Some weeks ago an operation for cancer was performed and for a while it was thought that he was recovering. A change for the worse occurred two weeks ago. He is survived by his widow, two brothers and a sister. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Among the suggestions offered as temporary relief measures is a proposal that the federal authorities shift extensions of credit from speculators to established industries, especially the building industry.

Opening of trade with Russia so that Russia may spend its money in the United States for the purchase of American products also will be advocated. Immediate inauguration of work on contemplated public improvements by the city, state and national governments also is proposed.

DECLARES CONDITION OF GIRL CRITICAL

Springfield, Feb. 7.—The condition of Miss Thelma Keller, prosecuting witness in the case of Mrs. Monetta Snowden as the result of a shooting affray last October, is critical, according to reports from the city hospital Sunday night.

An interne at the hospital, who said he does not wish his name connected with the case, said Miss Keller is suffering from "pressure necrosis" or bed sores and that this condition is slowly poisoning her.

Efforts are being made to heal the sores, he said, but it is hardly probable that they will be successful. He expressed the opinion that her condition is so critical that she probably will die because of it.

BOMB TAKES TOLL IN COUNTY DOWN

Dublin, Feb. 7.—A bomb outrage upon the police in which three constables were wounded, one fatally was reported from county Down today. The attack was made at Warren Point. WILSON NOT TO TAKE ANY PART IN THE MATTER

President Refuses Appeals Of Labor Unions To Intervene.

BOARD MUST ACT

Chief Executive Declares It Would Be Unfair To Step In.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The railway wage issue today is squarely up to the United States railway wage board. Decision as to whether the national working agreements shall live or whether they shall be abrogated and railroads permitted to reduce wages paid their employees rests entirely with the board.

Appeals of the labor unions to President Wilson to intervene in the dispute brought no result. The president in a telegram to the union leaders and to Thomas Lewis Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railroad Executives, declined to take any action other than to submit the plea of the employees and the claim of the railways to the interstate commerce commission and the railway wage labor board.

"It would be manifestly unfair for me to take any action which would interfere with the orderly procedure of the boards," the president said in his telegram. "In their action I think we may repose entire confidence. To seek to influence either of these bodies upon anything which has been placed within their jurisdiction by congress would be unwise and open to grave objection."

Telegraphs Approval.

Thomas DeWeitt Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railroad Executives, promptly telegraphed to President Wilson his approval of the president's action. His telegram congratulated the president on his sound and proper conclusion.

Labor officials have not as yet made public any statement or comment upon the president's action.

Action by the railway wage labor board has been delayed by the failure of the employees representatives to appear and present their side of the case. Two payplements have been granted by E. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, who is the spokesman of the employees. It is now expected that Jewell will appear before the board on Thursday.

Regardless of the decision of the board concerning the national agreements observes of the situation see indications of prolonged dissatisfaction. If the agreements are not abrogated the railways declare they face bankruptcy; if they are abrogated the unions threaten a strike that would paralyze transportation.

As a consequence it became necessary to suspend all passenger and freight trains until further notice. Only a few office employes remain at work. A few train men and other workers agreed to accept the wage reduction but with suspension of operations they are temporarily out of work. United States mails are being carried over a bus line out of Albright.

FILE CHARGES AND COUNTER CHARGES

Charles Morgan, Ed. Grindle, Mrs. Grindle, William Fox, and his emaciated, Miss Louise Stooks, will be arraigned on Police Court Tuesday morning on charges resulting from a Sunday afternoon dispute.

Grindle claims when driving his horse and buggy accompanied by his wife, he stopped at the home of William Fox in the East End and started to enter the yard by driving in the alley. He alleges that Morgan, who lives next door, would not permit him to drive in the alley, threatening him with a club, saying the alley was a private one. He filed an affidavit in Police Court Sunday against Morgan.

Morgan later filed charges that Fox had come out of his house with a shotgun when the dispute arose and Monday morning when Fox signified his wish to file counter charges against Morgan, the crowd was ordered into Police Court Tuesday morning.

COMMITTEE TO MEET. The executive committee of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Committee will take up important measures at a meeting to be held in the office of Magistrate J. E. Jones Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Members are invited to bring a friend.

MRS. SYLVIA FOSTER, of Buffalo, N. Y., who says she wishes she could go into every home and tell how Tanlac completely restored her health after he had lost all hope of ever being well again.

"They had given up all hope of my ever being well again but thanks to Tanlac I am feeling as well now as I ever felt in my life and I only wish I had time to go to every home and tell every sick person about this grand medicine."

"A year ago last January I had a severe attack of influenza which left me in a terribly weakened condition and my appetite was so poor that I ate little more than enough to keep body and soul together."

"My heart palpitated so dreadfully at times that it seemed like it had stopped altogether and I would think my time had come. I was so weak that I couldn't go up the steps without holding to the railing. It was impossible for me to do any housework. I was so nervous that I couldn't drink my tea or coffee without spilling it."

"My sleep was restless and broken and I would have smothering spells and would just have to get up and go to the window so I could breathe."

"I finally started taking Tanlac on the advice of a friend and before I had finished taking the second bottle my neighbors could tell I was improving right along. Well, it has only taken five bottles to restore my health completely."

"My appetite is just splendid now, my nerves are strong and steady, my housework is a real pleasure and I can sleep like a child at night. In fact, I never felt better in my life than I do now."

The above remarkable statement was made by Mrs. Sylvia Foster, of 206 S. Division St., Buffalo, N. Y., a well known and highly respected resident of that city.

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill, in Yellow Springs by A. Finley, in Bowersville, N. K. Bowermeister, in Fairfield, Paul P. Young, in Osborn, C. J. Longsdon, in New Burlington, W. C. Smith.

HEARING OF SUIT OVER FURNISHINGS STARTS ON MONDAY

Hearing of the injunction suit filed by Harvey Coates of the barber firm of Coates & McFadden against Rufus M. Mullen, of the Mullen-Jenkins Tobacco Company was begun in Common Pleas court Monday morning before Judge M. J. Hartley.

The injunction grew out of a dispute over the barber fixtures in use in the Coates & McFadden shop, which are the property of Mullen. The latter is starting a barbershop in his East Main street cigar store and started to remove the fixtures last Monday to install them in his new shop. Coates in his petition alleges he has the fixtures leased until Feb. 12. A temporary order allowed by Judge Hartley at the time prevented Mullen from moving the equipment, although part of it had been torn down by carpenters before the order was issued.

As the case began in Common Pleas Court workmen began installing new fixtures purchased by Coates & McFadden in their shop, entire new equipment having been purchased

Why Are Skin Diseases So Difficult To Overcome

When your skin breaks out with itching eruptions, tetter, rash, eczema, psoriasis, or other terrifying disorders temporary relief will do you but little good, for soon all the itching and irritation breaks out afresh with renewed fury, and you soon realize that local remedies such as ointments, salves and similar treatment will never rid you of your trouble.

These troubles originate in the blood, and if you expect real substantial relief you must treat them through the blood. The best remedy for this purpose is S. S. S., the fine old remedy that purifies the blood of disease germs, and thus restores the skin to a normal and healthy condition. Begin taking S. S. S. today, and write a complete history of your case, and our medical director will give you expert advice without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 161 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

AN IOWA COLLEGE FINDS WAYS TO KEEP YOUTHS ON THE FARM.

Among the productive factors of Iowa is the State Agricultural College, at Ames. It is among the oldest and best known of these institutions in the country and a pioneer in real achievements. For many years its efforts were largely those of efficient production, but of late it realizes that there are two vital factors in farm life; that of making at least a fair living and of rendering life on the farm worth while. While it always will pursue the first endeavor, it is giving more and more attention to the second proposition.

Recently the college made a social survey of the little township of Lone Tree, in Clay county, northwestern Iowa. There are two railroads running through the township. Clay county is among the leaders in the state in mileage of gravel roads. There are eighty-five farmhouses and 482 persons in Lone Tree township, exclusive of the little village of Evely.

The result of the survey is the story in not only of this minute fragment of humanity but of the whole agricultural community in this great country of ours and of the drift of all our civilization. If country life decays there is scant hope for the rest of the nation.

The final story as to why boys and girls leave the farm, finds its answer in that fast dying, barbaric legal fiction that children are mere appendages and chattels of their parents, a fiction that takes no account of the profound truth, which is slowly dawning upon us, of the distinct entity and individuality of the child, to be studied and considered.

The thing of most moment developed in the study of Lone Tree Township is that there is too often lack of recognition of the fact that the inherent nature of the child demands play with its quota of work, and that its absence makes Jack a very dull and a very dissatisfied boy indeed. Moreover, the boy and the girl have the natural human desire to be a part of the show; to be something more than a mere servant, like the hired man; to have some tangible interest in the land on which they labor, something of their own, so that they shall not wait the slow process of time to be at least part farmers in their own right.

The vital problem, that of making boys and girls partners in farm life has enlisted the sympathy and active co-operation, not only of the State College, but likewise of the country bankers and some of the leading farm papers, especially in Des Moines.

So there are now thousands of members of the boys' and girls' Pig, Calf, Poultry, and like clubs throughout the state. Funds are advanced to these youthful members on which they give notes and pay interest, that they may have something all their own and for whose success they are responsible. It is a strictly business proposition and it is a rare instance where it is not carried out with absolute good faith on both sides. The child thus imbibes that sense of responsibility and obligation which ownership always conveys, and life on the farm becomes a thing of accomplishment and endeavor, since now he has something to work for which inures to his own benefit. In other words, he learns to like his job, which is usually the preliminary to intelligent success.

Such are some of the simple, but direct and human ways by which the thinking men and women of Iowa seek to solve the great agricultural problems which encompass them.

LET US MAKE MEMORIAL DEVOTION COMMEMORATIVE OF NATIONAL CHARACTER.

The proposal to bring back from France the body of an unidentified American soldier for burial with military honors in the Arlington National Cemetery has the approval of General Pershing and should have that of the nation. In no better way could the republic pay tribute to its mighty dead than at the bier of one who lost not life alone but name and identity. This is the seal of our democracy.

It has been said that republics are ungrateful. It is not a true charge, but it is true that our own republic has too often wanted the genius for public ceremony possessed by other countries, and that Americans have not fully appreciated the significance and value of such ceremonies as expressions of the national life and feeling.

No country engaged in the war received a deeper impress from it than America. None took a more solemn pride in the devotion of the fallen. But America, less than any other country perhaps, has commemorated these sacrifices and this devotion in a way to give commemoration a national character.

This occasion can be supplied by such a ceremony as that decreed by the public feeling in Britain and France, where an unknown private soldier was brought back from the place where he fell and consigned to the most consecrated soil, in the most historic spot in his native land. America ought not to do less. No stage can be too great for such a ceremony, no occasion too high. The whole Nation should participate, and so impressive should be the observances that history never can make the reproach that the great republic does not honor its sons who die for it, or fails to make their sacrifice a patriotic lesson to the living.

HOW THE PRESENT CONGRESS MUFFED THE BALL WHEN THE COUNTRY EXPECTED ACTION.

Petty jealousies, personal ambitions, partisan politics of peanut caliber, coupled with a sheer lack of driving leadership is every day letting the present congress sink deeper into a legislative mire.

Apprehension now is felt lest, to the already heavy burdens awaiting the Harding administration, there shall be added the task of completing in the special session about half of what the present body reasonably might have been expected to conclude in the way of the necessary appropriation bills.

The one thing asked by President-elect Harding when he visited Washington was that the present congress get all the appropriation bills out of the way and the calendar cleared of this legislation before March 4. With clear calendars he wanted to say "let her go" and plunge into new problems of reconstruction. And that is what the country expects.

The emergency tariff fiasco which has kept the appropriation bills piling up day after day is only one example of how the present congress has muffed the ball when the country expected action.

There is yet time for congress to keep its promise to Harding and clear the decks. A lot of work, even though hastily drawn, can be jammed through in the last weeks of the session. But it will require a different spirit from that exhibited now. Debating a dead tariff bill isn't action.

MR. DAWES TESTIFIES BEFORE THE CONGRESSIONAL WAR INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

City Solicitor W. F. Orr is in receipt of a communication from George Little of the Miami Telephone Company who as a taxpayer calls upon Mr. Orr to use his official capacity in getting out an injunction restraining the Citizens Telephone Company from proceeding further with the construction of its system in this city. Mr. Orr has replied to the notice and has declined to accede to the request for the reason that no such exigency has arisen which would require the interference of the court in the protection of the interests of the city. The Ashtabula firm which is about to establish a mineral water and soft drink manufacturing establishment in this city has decided upon a location. This morning through T. H. Bell, the members of the firm closed a deal by which they became possessors of the property owned by Mrs. Phillip Davis, located at the corner of Bellbrook avenue and Second street. A neat little factory will be erected on the vacant lot adjoining the property, and about $2,500 worth of machinery will be brought here at once and stored until such time as the building can be completed. Mr. John Morgan, who for some time, has been connected with the electric light company in this city, serving as engineer for the company, has given up his place and has taken a position as engineer for the ice plant which is being established at the brewery.

The surveyors yesterday laid off the new heating plant for the court house, located in the rear of the Sheriff's residence and everything is now in readiness for the excavation for the foundation.

THE WAILER.

A cold wet wind blows from the sea, and puts rheumatics in my knee; my sole remaining tooth gets sore, and aches until it seems a bore. The wind comes sighing from the sea, all day, and puts a crimp in me. But on the hills, some miles away, the breeze is warm throughout the day, the sunshine on the landscape glows, and there an old gent might repose without an ill to cause him grief, without occasion for a beef. Why then, you ask, do I remain, upon the seashore and complain? Alas, I could not happy be, where everything is fair to see; unhappy is the wight who wakes to find his person free from aches; he has no topic and no theme to justify a roar or scream. I sit and watch the seagulls wheel, and tell the world how tough I feel, describe the ache that racked my head last evening when I went to bed, detail the symptoms I possess, and analyze my soul's distress, and life seems sweet and full to me, when dank winds come in from the sea. I might be freed from all my ills; they tell me, if I sought the hills, but then I'd have no good excuse for shedding tears to beat the deuce.

MOTORAIDS

A good cover for radiator and hood is very necessary in the winter. One with an opening near the top of the radiator is preferable, as the water in the radiator heats first at the top and freezes first at the bottom. Drive with the flap down so the heat may escape. When leaving the car for some time, with the motor stopped, close the opening in the cover until ready to start. When the car is left for the night in an unheated garage the hood and cover will keep out the cold for several hours, making it easier to start in the morning. The surest way to prevent freezing when the car is left for a day or so, or even overnight in an unheated garage, is to drain the radiator and the water jacket on the cylinders. Anti freeze precautions should be taken when the mercury falls below twenty above. A good anti freeze solution is made by adding the water about twenty-five percent of wood alcohol. This will prevent freezing at any temperature down to zero. Add five percent alcohol for every five degrees below zero.

MANKIND SHOULD THANK THE WORM

London, Feb. 4.—The first great colonists of the land, said Professor J. Arthur Thompson during the course of a lecture at the Royal Institute, were worms. Mankind should look back to them with gratitude, because they began with the profitable habit of moving with one end of the body always in front—a habit which was the beginning of a more vigorous life and has resulted in one being able to tell one's right from one's left.

BOUDOIR ACCESSORIES
Every woman quite naturally wants to see herself dressed as the lovely ladies in fashion pages dress. I think this applies more to negligees and underthings than to outdoor dress, if I may judge from the letters I receive on the subject.

It's probably the intense femininity of it—a woman's boudoir is usually pictured as such a luxurious little retreat, her boudoir accessories and her negligees are made so alluringly. Yet some of us—most of us probably—can't afford either the time or the money it requires to enjoy these things.

So if we want them, we must use our wits to get them. And it really doesn't take a great deal of work to achieve rather good results. Old evening gowns, made up with perhaps a plain slip of chiffon over them to hide their shabbiness, make lovely negligees—and for that matter, the cheapest cotton crepe comes in lovely plain colors and makes up very well indeed. Old dance slippers make nice boudoir slippers for they can be cleaned, or stained, or even painted, to make them fresh again—and boudoir slippers never cost a great deal, even when new. Boudoir caps can be made from odds and ends of lace and ribbon, if one is a little ingenious.

Cheap furniture can be enameled in soft colors and the results are amazing. Figured carpets can be dyed or painted at home with hot strong dye, to bring them into the new decorative schemes. And do know that cheap wooden toilet articles can be covered with brocaded silks and finished with metal braid, if hot furniture glue is used?

Gray-Headed Sixteen—Gray hairs at your age sometimes due to illness or a nervous shock, or to very poor health. If the condition worries you I would advise you to see your physician about it. I can, if you wish, send you the formula for a pilocarpine hair tonic. This stimulates the color cells and helps prevent grayness, and I think it would be very useful in your case.

Good-Luck—Pimples come from internal conditions. You might try taking three cakes of compressed yeast every day, or else take a large teaspoonful of agar-agar once every day. This can be mixed with your food, or softened and drunk in water.

SHOOT OIL ON WATER TO CALM ANGRY WAVES

Boston, Feb. 7.—Shells fired with a gallon of oil and fired at angry waves by the U. S. Life Guards will calm them, according to tests made by H. S. Parker, of Cohasset.

He says: "These shells filled with a gallon of oil fired at low force powder charge would scatter the oil on the surface of the water. A barrage of such shells to the windward of a wreck would produce a sufficiently smooth sea to enable a lifeboat to make a safe approach from the shore to the wreck." These oil shells are now being tested.

NOTHING that we could say would so thoroughly convince you of the value of Chamberlain's Tablets as a personal trial. We can tell you of thousands who have been permanently cured of chronic constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache and disorders of the stomach and liver, but this will have little weight with you as compared to a personal trial. That always convinces.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL.
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little liver-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT IS THE MATTER?
When You Feel Out of Sorts and See Things with a Dull Eye
LOOK TO YOUR BLOOD
Pale Complexions, Languid Feelings, Lowered Vitality, Need More Red Blood. Take Pepto-Mangan

So many people spend week after week feeling down and out. They never stop to think that something really is the matter. They satisfy themselves by saying, "Oh, I'm not sick. I'll be all right tomorrow."

And tomorrow comes again and again. Still they feel depressed and languid, scarcely able to get around. If you don't feel like yourself, you are not yourself. If you are weak and pale, your blood needs strengthening. You should know about Pepto-Mangan, that famous blood tonic. Physicians recommend it and prescribe it because it contains just the ingredients needed to make red blood. It renews your energy, puts you where you ought to be. Begin with it today.

Get the tablets if they will be more convenient to take than the liquid. Both have the same medicinal properties. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.

HIGH PRAISE GIVEN "LOOK WHO'S HERE"
"Intoxicating" is the outstanding word in the highly favorable criticism of a Dayton theatrical critic concerning "Look Who's Here," which played there Sunday night, and which, with the same company led by Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield will perform at the Opera House here Tuesday night.

The criticism is much on the same order as those taken from the Cincinnati papers while this clever musical comedy farce offering was playing at the Lyric there last week—highly complimentary and filled with the saying of nice things about Mr. Lean has costar Miss Mayfield and his well balanced company.

Mr. Lean began making a hit when he first appeared and sang "I Know and You Know." Other numbers that were popular were "There's a Romeo for Every Girl I Know," "The Turk Had the Right Idea" and "When a Wife Gets Fat," which drew forth so much applause that after many encores, Mr. Lean was forced to a curtain speech.

The Dayton criticism says "Both Mr. Lean and Miss Mayfield are delightful actors as well as good singers and the latter's monotone drawl in her character as the matrimonial expert was one of the laugh producing features of the evening."

The Standard Amusement Company of this city backs the Tuesday night offering to be the biggest hit of the local theatrical season.

EUROPEAN RELIEF CAMPAIGN ENTERS FINAL CLEANUP

The final clean-up drive in the Hoover European Relief fund collection in Ohio opened Monday, according to the announcement of State Chairman William Eugene Jones, and all canvassers and those collecting the donations in Greene County have been asked to make a report and to turn in all donations received to H. S. LeSourd, county treasurer of the relief fund.

Greene county's part in the drive has been received with little response and the quota allotted to the county of $5,600 is as yet far from being reached. While no accurate estimate can be made as to the amount received in the county, one of the leaders of the organization here states that the drive has not been successful.

Greene county is one of the many counties of the state that has been organized for work in the drive, and at the opening of the campaign in the state, W. L. Miller, local attorney, and H. S. LeSourd were appointed to head the organization. Most of the counties of the state are organized, according to reports reaching state headquarters, and money contributed to date assures the saving of nearly 150,000 of the 3,500,000 European children who are threatened with starvation unless American relief work is continued.

Ohio has been assigned responsibility for 200,000 children, necessitating contributions amounting to $2,000,000. In total subscriptions, Cleveland and Cuyahoga county led state with a community chest of $60,000. This amount is not however, enough to meet Cuyahoga county's quota.

In proportion to population, Miami county is Ohio's largest, having contributed $85,000 which is more than three times the county's quota. Hamilton County went over the top last week, with a community chest guarantee of the full amount necessary to make up the quota of $272,000. Athens, Lake, Coshocton, Vinton, Clinton, Fairfield and Morrow counties have also subscribed to their full quotas.

The churches, lodges, and all organizations in the city are urged by the workers in the drive to contribute the largest effort in helping Greene county to round up its full quota and all canvassers in the county are asked to turn their report to the County Treasurer by the last of the week since all the contributions and reports must be made by the 12th of February.

Is It Yours?

SIR THOMAS MORE

February 7, 1478

No more charming story can be read than is contained in the life of Thomas More, author of the "Utopia," scholar, and diplomat too.

He was born in London in Milk Street and went to a school in Threemile Street, and later was put in the household of the Archbishop of Canterbury, because it was thought a good place for young men to learn good manners and to meet famous people.

He was also sent to Oxford, where he studied Greek—one of the first of his day to learn a language looked on, then, with suspicion. It gave him "new ideas" of which his father disapproved. He was taken from Oxford, and made to study law.

For a while it seemed he wanted to be a monk. He wore a hair shirt, scourged himself, slept with a log for a pillow and often fasted. These ideas he got over.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Joy is not like happiness. It needs no warmth or peace or light. Through struggle, work, defeat, it sings—Joy belongs to those who fight.

He wrote his delightful "Utopia," and lectured to all the learned men of London. But he opposed some ideas of Henry VII, and had to go into retirement. Henry VII was devoted to him, restored him to favor, and made him one of the first men of the land, until More told him he did not approve of divorce, and that the king's second marriage was illegal.

After that, all sorts of charges were made against him, until finally they were able to condemn and behead him. His mansion in Chelsea, then a country estate, was taken away and his property given to princess—later Queen Elizabeth.

More was one of the foremost thinkers of his day.

MISSES CHURCH ONCE IN 48 YEARS

Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 7.—Andrew E. Fay has probably been to church more times than any living person in Haverhill. After forty-eight years of continual service as sexton of St. James' Church he has retired. Fay's record is a remarkable one for faithfulness to duty. Only once since 1873 did Fay miss a service at the church on Sundays or holidays.

HAVE THESE PUZZLED YOU?

There are a number of terms used in American cookery that are derived from other languages. While some of these have been used by us for so long that they have become a part of our daily vocabulary, there are others that are only found as items on the bill of fare or menu of restaurants and hotels. Some of these terms are:

Bechamel—A rich cream sauce. Invented by the Marquis De Bechamel, maitre d'hotel to Louis XIV.
Bisque—A cream soup made with fish or shell fish, usually the latter. The word originally applied to a form of pigeon soup, of which cray-fish was one of the ingredients. The word "bisque" survived and is now applied to other cream soups.

Blanc-mange—A pudding or jelly made of isinglass, gelatin, calves-foot jelly, etc., and milk. Starchy substances frequently substituted.

Bouillon—A clear broth. Name generally reserved for beef broth unless otherwise designated as "clam bouillon" or "tomato bouillon."

Canape—Fried or toasted bread, spread with any of a great variety of articles, such as fish pastes, etc.
En Casserole—Service in covered earthen vessels, usually same one in which food was cooked.

Crotons—Cubes of fried or toasted bread. Accompany soup. Demi-tasse (half cup)—Applied to a small cup of black coffee.

Foie-Maitre—A kind of meat stew that originated in Hungary, now popular here both as a restaurant item and for home use. Consists generally of beef garnished with potatoes, onions, paprika sauce, etc.
Julienne—Applied to shredded potatoes and to a garnish of mixed vegetables, such as carrots, turnips, celery, etc., cut in thin strips.

Newburg—A name generally applied to lobster or shrimp cooked with sherry, cream and egg yolks and served in a chafing dish.
Pane-Bread—Crumbed.
Papillotes (en)—In paper cases with paper frills, etc.

Pepper Pot—A national soup stew of the West Indies, which has found much favor in the United States, especially in Philadelphia. It is composed of various meats, vegetables, herbs and small dumplings well seasoned. In Philadelphia pepper pot tripe is used as a basis.

Puree—Soup made from vegetables or fish forced through a strainer, and retained in milk. Generally thicker than cream soups.
Purée of tomato, etc.
Ragout—Stew.
Rissoles—Croquettes enclosed in pastry.

Saute—To cook in small amount of fat. Contrasted with frying which is the term applied to deep fat cooking.
Souffle (puffed)—A dish made with many eggs. Must be served immediately to keep from falling.
Tutti Frutti—(Italian, all fruits)—Ices or ice cream mixed with various candied fruits.

Vinaigrette—With vinegar sauce. Vol-au-vent—(Flying at the mercy of the wind)—A light puff-paste patty.

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED

Dick came home that night terribly excited. He was late, and I ran to the door to let him in. I knew the moment I saw his face that something unusual had kept him.

"What is it?" I asked.
"Sh—wait until Junior goes to bed. Then I'll tell you and mother all about it." Mother had remained with me, said she just could not leave until she knew something of why Junior had been lured away.

Naturally we hurried our dinner, and with little appetite. It seemed to me that Junior never was so unwilling to go to bed, or ever had so many wants to be satisfied. We had rather babied him all day, and he was taking advantage of it. But finally he was asleep and we were free to talk.

"What he told us was all true, I fancy," Dick commenced. "The big house he said he stopped at was a roadhouse, probably. It wasn't Sanderson who took him, but a man he hired to do it, and who finally became conscience stricken and brought him back. Mr. Peabody thinks Sanderson didn't have the guts to steal a child himself, and so got this man. But evidently he too was not quite tough enough for the job."

"But how did you know?"
"I found a note at the bank from the man who took him, the one who brought him back. It was not intended to harm Junior any of the time. It was an attempt to make me suffer, to frighten me. He was to have kept Junior a week, instead of not quite a day and a half, then bring him back. The note said that Sanderson wanted to get even with me, a stranger, for meddling with him; showing him up to the bank people."

"What will be done with the man who took Junior?" Mother asked.

"Nothing! He begged me in the note not to try to find him, because he had brought Junior back unharmed. He said it was his first criminal action, and that he did it because he needed money so badly. That he was in debt, and couldn't resist making what looked like easy money."

"But Dick—to let him go—if you could find him? Won't he try to take Junior again—perhaps?"

"No, I think not. Mr. Peabody feels just as I do about it. The note was that of a repentant man, and, Nan, I can't find in my heart to hunt him out and prosecute him, I remember our own difficulties, my own temptations too keenly."

"I guess you are right," mother said softly. Then added: "With what measure you mete it shall be measured to you again," and after a moment: "Judge not that ye be not judged."

"But mother!" I interrupted, "shall we ever feel safe, sure that this man Sanderson won't attempt it again?"
"I think so," Dick broke in. Mr. Peabody has communicated with Sanderson. If ever he makes another attempt to injure us—or anyone in the bank, he will prosecute him, in some way that was the understanding with the District Attorney. Sanderson had to keep straight in every particular. Anyway, Nan, I feel like quoting Scripture as mother has done: 'Let him without sin, etc.' cetera. That poor devil, harassed with debt, needing money, hardly knew the enormity of the offense he tried to commit. That he returned Junior safe and sound shows he has a conscience, and that it meant more to him than the money he might have had if he had carried out his agreement. No, I really do not think we need worry about either he or Sanderson hurting us again."

In spite of Dick's optimistic opinion I was terribly anxious, and so welcomed mother's decision to remain with us a few days with added delight. She undertook Junior's education in that respect. He must be taught not to go with strangers.

"If any nice man asks you to go riding, or gives you candy, you must call mother," she told him over and over, until his baby mind seemed to grasp the idea.

"Nice man's goes too fast. I'm scared," he said when she emphasized the danger of going in an "autobile" with anyone unless daddy or mother were with him.

"Yes, and nice little boys ask their mother, when they want to go anywhere."

"Mother said I might dig in the sand with my pail and shovel." "That fellow must have driven terribly fast to frighten Junior like that," Dick said when I told him of mother's efforts to make Junior understand he must not go with strangers. "He is fond of motoring, and never seems frightened no matter how fast he is driven."

"Let us all try to forget the last two days," mother said before we retired. "Just remember to be thankful, and to trust Him who knoweth when a sparrow falls—how much more will He look after one of His little children."

To Be Continued.

NATION SOUND ECONOMICALLY AVERS EXPERT

See Era of Prosperity When Commodities Are Stabilized.

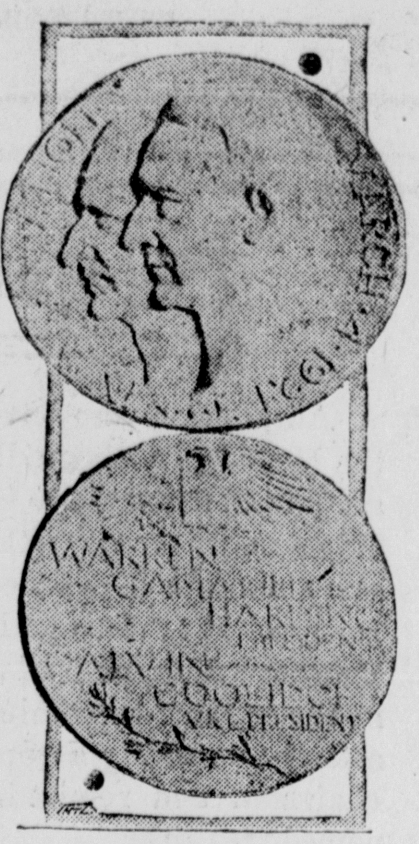

NEW PLAN OFFERED Williams Recommends Aid To Help Banks Meet Runs.

today is upon a sounder basis financially and economically, than it has been for many years, and will enter upon an era of healthy progress when prices of commodities are further stabilized, Comptroller of the Currency Williams said today in his annual report to congress.

Comptroller Williams told congress there is urgent need in the readjustment period to stamp out profiteers in money and commodities. While the banking situation is growing more secure, Williams recommended that congress should add to this security by enacting laws that will improve the banking system and increase the security of bank deposits.

Among the main recommendations for new legislation made by Williams is one to enable solvent banks to meet runs or other sudden emergencies by the use with federal reserve banks of good securities that are not available now for such purposes. He also urged congress to enact a bank guaranty law, by which all deposit balances of $5,000 and less would be guaranteed. The effect of such a law he said would be to bring hundreds of millions of dollars out of hiding and into productive use.

U. S. GOVERNMENT WILL NOT CANCEL ALLIED WAR DEBTS

Formal Representations Made By British To America.

London, Feb. 7.—Formal representations were made to the United States government by Basil C. Blackett, C. B., controller of finance in the British treasury for cancellation of the allied war debts, including the huge sums owed by allied nations to the United States but the American government refused, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Mr. Blackett's proposals were contained in a letter, which, according to the informant, was forwarded to Washington "some months ago."

The British proposals for annulment of the vast war debts and America's refusal to sanction them are now part of the official treaty records in Whitehall it was declared.

LAD WHO KILLED FATHER RECEIVES RITES OF CHURCH

Angus Irvin, 20-Year-Old Cripple Taken To Mansfield.

Newark, O., Feb. 7.—Angus Irvine, the 20-year-old crippled boy who shot to death his father, ex-Probate Judge Major Walter A. Irvine, on the night of November 16, 1920, was together with a large class of men, women, boys and girls, confirmed in the Trinity Episcopal church here yesterday.

At his own request Angus was baptized by Rector Lewis P. Franklin and the delay in taking Angus to the reformatory at Mansfield, to which institution he was sentenced by the court after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter, was because he was repentant and wanted to join the church. This is the first case on record so far is known here, where a person convicted of murder has been converted and confirmed in a church and has been able to stay in position of sentence while he was receiving religious instruction. The church was crowded with people to witness the ceremony.

EXPECT HOUSE TO PASS BILLS NOW ON BOOKS

First Step Taken To Start Probe Into Department.

BONUS BILL IS UP Committees Will Confer With Governor Davis On New Plans

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—Lieutenant Governor Brown and Speaker Beetham today are expected to appoint the three senators and three house members who are to probe the state highway department, as provided for in the Hopely resolution which was adopted last week. The legislative probes will be aided by Attorney General Price.

The house this week is expected to pass the Hopely bill providing for abolition of the state highway advisory board, and the day resolution proposing an amendment to the state constitution permitting the state to issue not more than $25,000,000 in bonds in order to pay bonuses to Ohio veterans of the world war. The senate has passed both these measures.

The senate and house committees on reorganization of state departments are to confer with Gov. Davis Wednesday relative to details of proposed legislation seeking to effect a material change in the machinery of state government. It is planned to have a bill ready for introduction by March 1 which will embrace substantially all the major changes contemplated.

A joint hearing is to be held in the house tomorrow night by the senate and house taxation committees on the Grissold measures relative to debt limitation and on the Taft bill permitting suspension of the Smith one per cent tax act for three years on vote of electors in any taxing district.

CONGRESS WILL ACT ON SOLDIER BONUS BILL

"Adequate, Ample and Satisfactory Provision" Will Be Made For Soldiers Declares Senator Penrose—American Legion Wants Final Action.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Congress is apparently about to do something at last to compensate the American doughboy for the sacrifices he made in the world war. After months of dillydallying and debate since the armistice was signed "adequate, ample and satisfactory provision" in the words of Senator Penrose will soon be made for hundreds of American service men. As one step in that direction, the senate today coincident with a meeting of the executive and legislative committees of the American Legion here planned to adopt an amendment to the pending sundry civil appropriations bill providing for $17,500,000 for proper hospital facilities for maimed, sick and insane veterans.

Senator Penrose is of the opinion that the American people will back congress up if increased taxation is found necessary to furnish financial aid for the soldiers. He said he would support the bill passed by the house last session and still before the senate finance committee of which the Pennsylvania senator is chairman.

The bill is in charge of Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, who as ranking Republican member of the committee, was its acting chairman before Senator Penrose's recent recovery from a long illness.

It is Senator McCumber's plan to hold further hearings on the bill but the American Legion and other organizations of service men are insisting final action on the bill has been delayed long enough and the senate ought not to permit it to "sleep" in committee any longer. In this they are to have the support of Senator Penrose, he indicated. There are many other bills proposing soldier aid and relief on both the senate and house calendars.

U. S. RAILWAY BOARD TO DECIDE WAGE ISSUE

HERSCHEL S. HALL NOTED AUTHOR IS DEAD IN CLEVELAND

His Book "Steel Preferred" Among Best Of The Year.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 7.—Herschel S. Hall, widely known author, whose novel "Steel Preferred" was one of the six best sellers of the year, died at the Huron Road hospital here yesterday after a long illness at the age of 46.

He was born in Danville, Ill., Oct. 22, 1874, and came to Cleveland in 1905, being connected with the American steel and wire company until about three years ago, where he secured much of the material which he wove into such fascinating fiction.

His best known character was "Wallie Gay" whose rise from poverty to high position was told in the Saturday Evening Post and later in book form.

His last illness dates from election day. Some weeks ago an operation for cancer was performed and for a while it was thought that he was recovering. A change for the worse occurred two weeks ago. He is survived by his widow, two brothers and a sister. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

WILSON NOT TO TAKE ANY PART IN THE MATTER

President Refuses Appeals Of Labor Unions To Intervene.

BOARD MUST ACT Chief Executive Declares It Would Be Unfair To Step In.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The railway wage issue today is squarely up to the United States railway wage board. Decision as to whether the national working agreements shall live or whether they shall be abrogated and railroads permitted to reduce wages paid their employees rests entirely with the board.

Appeals of the labor unions to President Wilson to intervene in the dispute brought no result. The president in a telegram to the union leaders and to Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railroad Executives, declined to take any action other than to submit the plea of the employees and the claim of the railroads to the interstate commerce commission and the railway wage labor board.

"It would be manifestly unfair for me to take any action which would interfere with the orderly procedure of the board," the president said in his telegram. "In their action I think we may repose entire confidence. To seek to influence either of these bodies upon anything which has been placed within their jurisdiction by congress would be unwise and open to grave objection."

Telegraphs Approval. Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railroad Executives, promptly telegraphed to President Wilson his approval of the president's action. His telegram congratulated the president on his sound and proper conclusion.

Labor officials have not as yet made public any statement or comment upon the president's action.

Action by the railway wage labor board has been delayed by the failure of the employees representatives to appear and present their side of the case. Two postponements have been granted. B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, who is the spokesman of the employees. It is now expected that Jewell will appear before the board on Thursday.

Regardless of the decision of the board concerning the national agreements observes of the situation see indications of prolonged dissatisfaction. If the agreements are not abrogated the railways declare they face bankruptcy; if they are abrogated the unions threaten a strike that would paralyze transportation.

UNIONS WILL MEET TO DISCUSS PLANS ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Representatives Of 300 Unions To Meet In Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Chicago representatives of 300 unions affiliated with the Chicago Federation of Labor will meet February 27 to discuss measures for the relief of unemployment, chief among which is a tentative plan for working shorter hours so that there may be a division of jobs between the employed and unemployed. Measures for immediate relief as well as permanent relief plans will be discussed.

Among the suggestions offered as temporary relief measures is a proposal that the federal authorities shift extensions of credit from speculators to established industries, especially the building industry.

Opening of trade with Russia so that Russia may spend its money in the United States for the purchase of American products also will be advocated. Immediate inauguration of work on contemplated public improvements by the city, state and national governments also is proposed.

DECLARES CONDITION OF GIRL CRITICAL

Springfield, Feb. 7.—The condition of Miss Thelma Keller, prosecuting witness in the case of Mrs. Monetta Snowden as the result of a shooting affray last October, is critical, according to reports from the city hospital Sunday night.

An interne at the hospital, who said he does not wish his name connected with the case, said Miss Keller is suffering from "pressure necrosis" or bed sores and that this condition is slowly poisoning her.

Efforts are being made to heal the sores, he said, but it is hardly probable that they will be successful. He expressed the opinion that her condition is so critical that she probably will die because of it.

The general management notified the employees of a reduction in wages but a number of them refused to accept the cut and quit their jobs. As a consequence it became necessary to suspend all passenger and freight trains until further notice. Only a few office em-

COMMITTEE TO MEET.
The executive committee of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Committee will take up important measures at a meeting to be held in the office of Magistrate J. E. Jones Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Members are invited to bring a friend.

MRS. SYLVIA FOSTER, of Buffalo, N. Y., who says she wishes she could go into every home and tell how Tanlac completely restored her health after she had lost all hope of ever being well again.

"They had given up all hope of my ever being well again but thanks to Tanlac I am feeling as well now as I ever felt in my life and I only wish I had time to go to every home and tell every sick person about this grand medicine."

"A year ago last January I had a severe attack of influenza which left me in a terribly weakened condition and my appetite was so poor that I ate little more than enough to keep body and soul together."

"My heart palpitated so dreadfully at times that it seemed like it had stopped altogether and I would think my time had come. I was so weak that I couldn't go up the steps without holding to the railing. It was impossible for me to do any housework. I was so nervous that I couldn't drink my tea or coffee without spilling it."

"My sleep was restless and broken and I would have smothering spells and would just have to get up and go to the window so I could breathe."

"I finally started taking Tanlac on the advice of a friend and before I had finished taking the second bottle my neighbors could tell I was improving right along. Well, it has only taken five bottles to restore my health completely."

"My appetite is just splendid now, my nerves are strong and steady, my housework is a real pleasure and I can sleep like a child at night. In fact, I never felt better in my life than I do now."

The above remarkable statement was made by Mrs. Sylvia Foster, of 206 S. Division St., Buffalo, N. Y., a well known and highly respected resident of that city.

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill, in Yellow Springs by A. Finley; Bowersville, N. K. Bowermeister; Fairfield, Paul P. Young; Osborn, C. J. Longdon; New Burlington, W. C. Smith.

HEARING OF SUIT OVER FURNISHINGS STARTS ON MONDAY

Hearing of the injunction suit filed by Harvey Coates of the barber firm of Coates & McFadden against Rufus M. Mullen, of the Mullen-Jenkins Tobacco Company was begun in Common Pleas court Monday morning before Judge M. J. Hartley.

The injunction grew out of a dispute over the barber fixtures in use in the Coates & McFadden shop, which are the property of Mullen. The latter is starting a barbershop in his East Main street cigar store and started to remove the fixtures last Monday to install them in his new shop. Coates in his petition alleges he has the fixtures leased until Feb. 12. A temporary order allowed by Judge Hartley at the time prevented Mullen from moving the equipment, although part of it had been torn down by carpenters before the order was issued.

As the case began in Common Pleas Court workmen began installing new fixtures purchased by Coates & McFadden in their shop, entire new equipment having been purchased

Why Are Skin Diseases So Difficult To Overcome

When your skin breaks out with itching eruptions, tetter, rash, eczema, psoriasis, or other terrifying disorders temporary relief will do you but little good, for soon all the itching and irritation breaks out afresh with renewed fury, and you soon realize that local remedies such as ointments, salves and similar treatment will never rid you of your troubles.

These troubles originate in the blood, and if you expect real substantial relief you must treat them through the blood. The best remedy for this purpose is S. S. S., the fine old remedy that purifies the blood of disease germs, and thus restores the skin to a normal and healthy condition. Begin taking S. S. S. today, and write a complete history of your case, and our medical director will give you expert advice without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 161 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

AN IOWA COLLEGE FINDS WAYS TO KEEP YOUTHS ON THE FARM.

Among the productive factors of Iowa is the State Agricultural College, at Ames. It is among the oldest and best known of these institutions in the country and a pioneer in real achievements. For many years its efforts were largely those of efficient education, but of late it realizes that there are two vital factors in a farm life; that of making at least a fair living and of rendering life on the farm worth while. While it always will pursue the first endeavor, it is giving more and more attention to the second proposition.

Recently the college made a social survey of the little township of Lone Tree, in Clay county, northwestern Iowa. There are two railroads running through the township. Clay county is among the leaders in the state in mileage of gravel roads. There are eighty-five farmhouses and 482 persons in Lone Tree township, exclusive of the little village of Everly.

The result of the survey is the story in not only of this minute fragment of humanity but of the whole agricultural community in this great country of ours and of the drift of all our civilization. If country life decays there is scant hope for the rest of the nation.

The final story as to why boys and girls leave the farm, finds its answer in that fast dying, barbaric legal fiction that children are mere appendages and chattels of their parents, a fiction that takes no account of the profound truth, which is slowly dawning upon us, of the distinct entity and individuality of the child, to be studied and considered.

The thing of most moment developed in the study of Lone Tree Township is that there is too often lack of recognition of the fact that the inherent nature of the child demands play with its quota of work, and that its absence makes Jack a very dull and a very dissatisfied boy indeed. Moreover, the boy and the girl have the natural human desire to be a part of the show; to be something more than a mere servant, like the hired man; to have some tangible interest in the land on which they labor, something of their own, so that they shall not wait the slow process of time to be at least part farmers in their own right.

The vital problem, that of making boys and girls partners in farm life has enlisted the sympathy and active co-operation, not only of the State College, but likewise of the country bankers and some of the leading farm papers, especially in Des Moines.

So there are now thousands of members of the boys' and girls' Pig, Calf, Poultry, and like clubs throughout the state. Funds are advanced to these youthful members on which they give notes and pay interest, that they may have something all their own and for whose success they are responsible. It is a strictly business proposition and it is a rare instance where it is not carried out with absolute good faith on both sides. The child thus imbibes that sense of responsibility and obligation which ownership always conveys, and life on the farm becomes a thing of accomplishment and endeavor, since now he has something to work for which inures to his own benefit. In other words, he learns to like his job, which is usually the preliminary to intelligent success.

Such are some of the simple, but direct and human ways by which the thinking men and women of Iowa seek to solve the great agricultural problems which encompass them.

LET US MAKE MEMORIAL DEVOTION COMMEMORATIVE OF NATIONAL CHARACTER.

The proposal to bring back from France the body of an unidentified American soldier for burial with military honors in the Arlington National Cemetery has the approval of General Pershing and should have that of the nation. In no better way could the republic pay tribute to its mighty dead than at the bier of one who lost not life alone but name and identity. This is the seal of our democracy.

It has been said that republics are ungrateful. It is not a true charge, but it is true that our own republic has too often wanted the genius for public ceremony possessed by other countries, and that Americans have not fully appreciated the significance and value of such ceremonies as expressions of the national life and feeling.

No country engaged in the war received a deeper impress from it than America. None took a more solemn pride in the devotion of the fallen. But America, less than any other country perhaps, has commemorated these sacrifices and this devotion in a way to give commemoration a national character.

This occasion can be supplied by such a ceremony as that decreed by the public feeling in Britain and France, where an unknown private soldier was brought back from the place where he fell and consigned to the most consecrated soil, in the most historic spot in his native land. America ought not to do less. No stage can be too great for such a ceremony, no occasion too high. The whole Nation should participate, and so impressive should be the observances that history never can make the reproach that the great republic does not honor its sons who die for it, or fails to make their sacrifice a patriotic lesson to the living.

HOW THE PRESENT CONGRESS MUFFED THE BALL WHEN THE COUNTRY EXPECTED ACTION.

Petty jealousies, personal ambitions, partisan politics of peanut caliber, coupled with a sheer lack of driving leadership is every day letting the present congress sink deeper into a legislative mire.

Apprehension now is felt lest, to the already heavy burdens awaiting the Harding administration, there shall be added the task of completing in the special session about half of what the present body reasonably might have been expected to conclude in the way of the necessary appropriation bills.

The one thing asked by President-elect Harding when he visited Washington was that the present congress get all the appropriation bills out of the way and the calendar cleared of this legislation before March 4. With clear calendars he wanted to say "let her go" and plunge into new problems of reconstruction. And that is what the country expects.

The emergency tariff fiasco which has kept the appropriation bills piling up day after day is only one example of how the present congress has muffed the ball when the country expected action.

There is yet time for congress to keep its promise to Harding and clear the decks. A lot of work, even though hastily drawn, can be jammed through in the last weeks of the session. But it will require a different spirit from that exhibited now. Debating a dead tariff bill isn't action.

MR. DAWES TESTIFIES BEFORE THE CONGRESSIONAL WAR INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

City Solicitor W. F. Orr is in receipt of a communication from George Little of the Miami Telephone company who as a taxpayer calls upon Mr. Orr to use his official capacity in getting out an injunction restraining the Citizens Telephone Company from proceeding further with the construction of its system in this city. Mr. Orr has replied to the notice and has declined to accede to the request for the reason that no such exigency has arisen which would require the interference of the court in the protection of the interests of the city. The Ashtabula firm which is about to establish a mineral water and soft drink manufacturing establishment in this city has decided upon a location. This morning through T. H. Bell, the members of the firm closed a deal by which they became possessors of the property owned by Mrs. Phillip Davis, located at the corner of Bellbrook avenue and Second street. A neat little factory will be erected on the vacant lot adjoining the property and about $2,500 worth of machinery will be brought here at once and stored until such time as the building can be completed. Mr. John Morgan, who for some time, has been connected with the electric light company in this city, serving as engineer for the company, has given up his place and has taken a position as engineer for the ice plant which is being established at the brewery.

The surveyors yesterday laid off the new heating plant for the court house, located in the rear of the Sheriff's residence and everything is now in readiness for the excavation for the foundation.

THE WAILER.

A cold wet wind blows from the sea, and puts rheumatics in my knee; my sole remaining tooth gets sore, and aches until it seems a bore. The wind comes sighing from the sea, all day, and puts a crimp in me. But on the hills, some miles away, the breeze is warm throughout the day, the sunshine on the landscape glows, and there an old gent might repose without an ill to cause him grief, without occasion for a beef. Why then, you ask, do I remain, upon the seashore and complain? Alas, I could not be happy here, where everything is fair to see; unhappy is the wight who wakes to find his person free from aches; he has no topic and no theme to justify a roar or scream. I sit and watch the seagulls wheel, and tell the world how tough I feel, describe the ache that racked my head last evening when I went to bed, detail the symptoms I possess, and analyze my soul's distress, and life seems sweet and full to me, when dank winds come in from the sea. I might be freed from all my ills, they tell me, if I sought the hills, but then I'd have no good excuse for shedding tears to beat the deuce.

MOTORRAIDS

A good cover for radiator and hood is very necessary in the winter. One with an opening near the top of the radiator is preferable, as the water in the radiator heats first at the top and freezes first at the bottom.

Drive with the flap down so the heat may escape. When leaving the car for some time, with the motor stopped, close the opening in the cover until ready to start. When the car is left for the night in an unheated garage the hood and cover will keep out the cold for several hours, making it easier to start in the morning.

The surest way to prevent freezing when the car is left for a day or so, or even overnight in an unheated garage, is to drain the radiator and the water jacket on the cylinders. Anti freeze precautions should be taken when the mercury falls below twenty above. A good anti freeze solution is made by adding the water about twenty-five percent of wood alcohol. This will prevent freezing at any temperature down to zero. Add five percent alcohol for every five degrees below zero.

MANKIND SHOULD THANK THE WORM

London, Feb. 4.—The first great colonists of the land, said Professor J. Arthur Thompson during the course of a lecture at the Royal Institute, were worms. Mankind should look back to them with gratitude, because they began with the profitable habit of moving with one end of the body always in front—a habit which was the beginning of a more vigorous life and has resulted in one being able to tell one's right from one's left.

BOUDOIR ACCESSORIES
Every woman quite naturally wants to see herself dressed as the lovely ladies in fashion pages dress. I think this applies more to negligees and underthings than to outdoor dress, if I may judge from the letters I receive on the subject. It's probably the intense femininity of it—a woman's boudoir is usually pictured as such a luxurious little retreat, her boudoir accessories and her negligees are made so alluringly. Yet some of us—most of us probably—can't afford either the time or the money it requires to enjoy these things.

So if we want them, we must use our wits to get them. And it really doesn't take a great deal of work to achieve rather good results. Old evening gowns, made up with perhaps a plain slip of chiffon over them to hide their shabbiness, make lovely negligees—and for that matter, the cheapest cotton crepe comes in lovely plain colors and makes up very well indeed. Old dance slippers make nice boudoir slippers for they can be cleaned, or stained, or even painted, to make them fresh again—and boudoir slippers never cost a great deal, even when new. Boudoir caps can be made from odds and ends of lace and ribbon, if one is a little ingenious.

Cheap furniture can be enameled in soft colors and the results are amazing. Figured carpets can be dyed or painted at home with hot strong dye, to bring them into the new decorative scheme. And do know that cheap wooden toilet articles can be covered with brocaded silks and finished with metal braid, if hot furniture glue is used?

Gray-Headed Sixteen—Gray hairs at your age sometimes due to illness or a nervous shock, or to very poor health. If the condition worries you? would advise you to see your physician about it. I can, if you wish, send you the formula for a pilocarpine hair tonic. This stimulates the color cells and helps prevent grayness, and I think it would be very useful in your case.

Good-Luck—Pimples come from internal conditions. You might try taking three cakes of compressed yeast every day, or else take a large teaspoonful of agar-agar once every day. This can be mixed with your food, or softened and drank in water.

SHOOT OIL ON WATER TO CALM ANGRY WAVES

Boston, Feb. 7.—Shells fired with a gallon of oil and fired at angry waves by the U. S. Life Guards will calm them, according to tests made by H. S. Parker, of Cohasset.

He says: "These shells filled with a gallon of oil fired at low force powder charge would scatter the oil on the surface of the water. A barrage of such shells to the windward of a wreck would produce a sufficiently smooth sea to enable a lifeboat to make a safe approach from the shore to the wreck." These oil shells are now being tested.

NOTHING that we could say would so thoroughly convince you of the value of Chamberlain's Tablets as a personal trial. We can tell you of thousands who have been permanently cured of chronic constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headache and disorders of the stomach and liver, but this will have little weight with you as compared to a personal trial. That always convinces.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Joy is not like happiness.
It needs no warmth
or peace or light.
Through struggle, work,
defeat, it sings—
Joy belongs to those who fight.

He wrote his delightful "Utopia," and lectured to all the learned men of London. But he opposed some ideas of Henry VII, and had to go into retirement. Henry VII was devoted to him, restored him to favor, and made him one of the first men of the land, until more told him he did not approve of divorce, and that the king's second marriage was illegal. After that, all sorts of charges were made against him, until finally they were able to condemn and behead him. His mansion in Chelsea, then a country estate, was taken away and his property given to princess—later Queen Elizabeth.

More was one of the foremost thinkers of his day.

HAVE THESE PUZZLED YOU?

There are a number of terms used in American cookery that are derived from other languages. While some of these have been used by us for so long that they have become a part of our daily vocabulary, there are others that are only found as items on the bill of fare or menu of restaurants and hotels. Some of these terms are:
Béchamel—A rich cream sauce. Invented by the Marquis De Béchamel, maitre d'hotel to Louis XIV.
Bisque—A cream soup made with fish or shell fish, usually the latter. The word originally applied to a form of pigeon soup, of which cray-fish was one of the ingredients. The word "bisque" survived and is now applied to other cream soups.
Blanc-mange—A pudding or jelly made of isinglass, gelatin, calvesfoot jelly, etc., and milk. Starchy substances frequently substituted.
Bouillon—A clear broth. Name generally reserved for beef broth unless otherwise designated as "clam bouillon" or "tomato bouillon."

THE WOMAN HE MARRIED

Dick came home that night terribly excited. He was late, and I ran to the door to let him in. I knew the moment I saw his face that something unusual had kept him.

"What is it?" I asked.
"Sh-s-wait until Junior goes to bed. Then I'll tell you and mother all about it." Mother had remained with me, said she just could not leave until she knew something of why Junior had been late away.

Naturally we hurried our dinner, and with little appetite. It seemed to me that Junior never was so unwilling to go to bed, or ever had so many wants to be satisfied. We had rather babied him all day, and he was taking advantage of it. But finally he was asleep and we were free to talk.

"What he told us was all true, I fancy," Dick commenced. "The big house he said they stopped at was a roadside house probably. It wasn't Sanderson who took him, but a man he hired to do it, and who finally became conscience stricken and brought him back. Mr. Peabody thinks Sanderson didn't have the guts to steal a child himself, and so got this man. But evidently he too was not quite tough enough for the job."

"But how did you know?"
"I found a note at the bank from the man who took him, the one who brought him back. It was not intended to harm Junior any of the time. It was an attempt to make me suffer, to frighten me. He was to have kept Junior a week, instead of not quite a day and a half, then bring him back. The note said that Sanderson wanted to get even with me, a stranger, for meddling with him; showing him up to the bank people."

"What will be done with the man who took Junior?" Mother asked.

"Nothing! He begged me in the note not to try to find him, because he had brought Junior back unharmed. He said it was his first criminal action, and that he did it because he needed money so badly. That he was in debt, and couldn't resist making what looked like easy money."

"But Dick—to let him go—if you could find him? Won't he try to take Junior again—perhaps?"

"No. I think not. Mr. Peabody feels just as I do about it. The note was that of a repentant man, and, Nan, I can't find in my heart to hint him out and prosecute him, I remember our own difficulties, my own temptations too keenly."

"I guess you are right," mother said softly. Then added: "With what measure you mete it shall be measured to you again," and after a moment: "Judge not that ye be not judged."

"But mother!" I interrupted, "shall we ever feel safe, sure that this man Sanderson won't attempt it again?"
"I think so," Dick broke in. Mr. Peabody has communicated with Sanderson. If ever he makes another attempt to injure us—or anyone in the bank, he will prosecute him, in some way that was the understanding with the District Attorney. Sanderson had to keep straight in every particular. Anyway, Nan, I feel like quoting Scripture as mother has done: 'Let him without sin, etc cetera. That poor devil, harrassed with debt, needing money, hardly knew the enormity of the offense he tried to commit. That he returned Junior safe and sound shows he has a conscience, and that it meant more to him than the money he might have had if he had carried out his agreement. No, I really do not think we need worry about either he or Sanderson hurting us again."

In spite of Dick's optimistic opinion I was terribly anxious, and so welcomed mother's decision to remain with us a few days with added delight. She undertook Junior's education in that respect. He must be taught not to go with strangers.

"If any nice man asks you to go riding, or gives you candy, you must call mother," she told him over and over, until his baby mind seemed to grasp the idea.

"Nice man's goes too fast. I'm scared," he said when she emphasized the danger of going in an 'automobile' with anyone unless daddy or mother were with him.

"Yes, and nice little boys ask their mother when they want to go anywhere."

"Mother said I might dig in the sand with my pail and shovel."

"That fellow must have driven terribly fast to frighten Junior like that," Dick said when I told him of mother's efforts to make Junior understand he must not go with strangers. "He is fond of motoring, and never seems frightened no matter how fast he is driven."
"Let us all try to forget the last two days," mother said before we retired. "Just remember to be thankful, and to trust Him who knoweth when a sparrow falls—how much more will He look after one of His little children."

To Be Continued.

SIR THOMAS MORE

February 7, 1478

No more charming story can be read than is contained in the life of Thomas More, author of the "Utopia," scholar, and diplomat too.

He was born in London in Milk Street and went to a school near Threepenny Lane, and later was put in the household of the Archbishop of Canterbury, because it was thought a good plan for young men to learn good manners and to meet famous people.

He was also sent to Oxford, where he studied Greek—one of the first of his day to learn a language looked on, then, with suspicion. It gave him "new ideas" of which his father disapproved. He was taken from Oxford, and made to study law.

For a while it seemed he wanted to be a monk. He wore a hair shirt, scourged himself, slept with a log for a pillow and often fasted. These ideas he got over.

Only once since 1873 did Fay miss a service at the church on Sundays or holidays.
